Remember now this creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them.

While the sun, or the light, or the moon, or the stars, be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain. In the day when the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders cease because they are few, and those that look out of the windows be darkened.

And the doors shall be shut in the streets, when the sound of the grinding is low, and he shall rise up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of music shall be brought low; Also when they shall be afraid of that which is high, and fears shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and desire shall fail, because man goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the streets.

Reports on the sewer project, possible future projects, local cable company's charitable program, and miscellaneous business filled New Brockton City Council's agenda in Monday night's meeting.

Ewing suggested to the council that they might possibly qualify for funding of a housing rehabilitation (cost-shared with owners) project or maybe a drainage project. He also mentioned a planning grant involving the up-dating of city maps of streets and water & sewer lines.

The council decided to study all options open to them before making a commitment.

John Bowden, General Manager of Century Cable TV of Enterprise, advised the councilmen of the present charitable project being undertaken by the cable company.

The company is presently offering free cable hook-up to new customers and up-grading of services to present customers for a $10 fee. The company in turn donates the money to the Coffee County Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse.

To date, over $4,000 has been raised for the organization.

In the past, the company has donated $500 to the local rescue squad, $500 to the Senior Citizens Organization and $5,000 to the Coffee County Training Center.

The mayor and council expressed appreciation for the company's generosity to the local organizations.

The rezoning of the Brooks property located east of town on U. S. Highway 84 was approved by the council. It was changed from agricultural to business in order to attract the Shriners to hold the annual Chicken Festival on the site.

Location of the land is just east of the Wilkins Industrial Park on 84. Residents in the area of the rezoned land were assured by the council that they would monitor the situation closely and should any problems arise - they would be addressed immediately.

Other action taken by the council included the following:

James Richardson was hired temporarily as a police officer. He was hired to replace Officer Johnny May who had resigned from the force. Richardson has been serving as an auxiliary officer. Permanent hiring is pending Richardson's meeting all state law enforcement requirements.

Keith's street sweeper's salary from $35 to $45 per week.

Adams again quizzes commission on 1/2¢ tax revenueby Marvin McIlwain
Editor

Monday morning's Coffee County Commission meeting had a few sparks, but no full blown fire!

Once again, Mr. Dwight Adams appeared before the commission inquiring as to how much monies had been collected during the time the 1/2¢ sales tax was in force and how much, if any, had been spent. Also, he asked how much interest had been accumulated by the tax funds which had been placed in an escrow account.

Commission Chairman Billy Eagerston responded to Mr. Adams by stating that the figures he was requesting were available to him and anyone else who wished to see them.

Eagerston said, "I have them (the figures) at our office. I thought you were going to come by and get them and pick them up over there."

Adams stated that he had learned that some businesses outside of the county and the state were continuing to collect the tax since it had been ruled illegal to do so some fifteen months ago. He asked what was being done to correct this situation.

County Administrator Wilson Mobley related to Adams that he had received some monies, but the amounts were very small.

Earlier, the monies received from out-of-county and out-of-state collectors were also being put into the escrow account.

Eagerston said, "Mr. Adams, everything is on the books over there. If the state auditors want to come look at them, they're welcome to do that. We don't have to continue to be harassed and that's all you here. The records are there. We've not stolen any of this money - not a penny of it has been in our pockets. We don't have any other things to answer to you on this!"

Commissioner Jim Dubose said, "Based on the figures for where we were headed with the 1/2¢ sales tax, we would have paid the jail off in approximately 3-1/2 years at a cost of $1.1 million. It's going to cost Coffee County $4.9 million - an additional cost of $1.8 million."

Dubose stated that this money could have been used in so many different ways to better benefit the people of the county.

Adams reminded Commissioner Dubose that an offer to build a jail at no cost to the county was submitted by the City of Enterprise, but the commission refused to accept it.

"We weighed that offer along with several other offers," Dubose responded. "This commission as an elected body decided the best thing for Coffee County was to build the jail in New Brockton. I still contend that was the right thing to do!"

Turning to other matters, the State of Alabama, reportedly due to the progress of the electrical savings survey on county facilities presently being performed by Honeywell.

Approval was given for the county's highway department to perform the necessary engineering work and preparation work on R. 42, the highway leading to the new school building.

The work is being done in preparation for increased traffic to a chipping mill to be located on the road.

Following the naming of Kelley to the board, the council voted to prepare a resolution from the entire city council commending Dr. Farris for his dedication to the schools.

An emergency operational plan dealing with the levee was adopted by the council as official policy. The plan had already been submitted to the Alabama Emergency Management Agency for review and approval. It will be presented to the U. S. Corp of Engineers Wednesday as local policy.

The Wednesday presentation will be in an Elba meeting scheduled with the Corp to inform local officials on ways to lessen the chance of another flood such as the disaster of March 1990.

Council member John W. Sharpless, who also served as Elba's representative on the S. E. Alabama Gas board, reported that gas company profits were down for last year, due in part to the mild winter.

Last year Elba's portion of the profits was $79,975. However this year it dropped to $65,757. However due to Elba disaster, each participating member of the gas company agreed that Elba would receive no drop in revenue. Each of the 13 members will donate to bring Elba's share back up to last year's total.

In a related matter, Sharpless reported that Elba had a drop of 200 in

RAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

It seems that each time a new legislative session opens, we start fussing at them right from the get-go. This year we are putting them on the back as a group and Coffee County's Representative Jimmy Holley in particular. The usual bill to increase the legislator's "expense allowance" was voted on and failed, with Holley being among those voting against the bill. The measure didn't fail overwhelmingly, which means there are still those there who have as their main interest, the money which goes in their pocket.

Shirley and Olive Ray Martin are home now. They have been in Birmingham for weeks nursing an awful wreck. The fact they are both home is enough to tell us daughter and grandson are much, much better. For this we are thankful. Incidentally we understand their accident was used in a safety film on the benefits of wearing safety belts. Daughter Ann and both her children were well strapped in and the belts are credited with saving their lives.

One of the TV networks aired a special on lotteries last week. We listened with interest as they interviewed people pro and con on the subject. We have never an objection to lotteries and still don't. Opponents contend a lottery takes advantage of poor folks, but the poor ain't complaining. We doubt these same opponents would advocate making entry into the lottery off-limits to the poor, etc. However we note with interest that even the strongest advocates for the lottery acknowledge politicians have been known to mislead the voters with unfulfilled promises. We still contend that ideally state lottery profits should be for "extras" and not to fund normal government functions. As we have observed and our "experts" admitted, very often the politicians use lottery profits to avoid the distasteful tax route to fund normal operations... promises or no promises.

Lately there has been a lot of talk all the way up the line to Washington about quality of schools. Business and industry are calling for improvements in the education system... or at least updates. While there is a wide spread clamor for improving, we heard one educator on the tube complaining "that would make us competitive with each other!" Gosh, our little bit of confused mind thought competition was the American way. In fact we ain't satisfied with reports that a school or certain group of students "was equal to the average." We kinda think it is alright to be better than the average and in fact this should be the goal. Of course to get this results we would have to rock some boats and do something different occasionally.

Release of the name in the alleged Palm Beach rape case is making almost as much news as the fact one of the Kennedy clan is accused in the matter. We happen to think our fellow journalist (we ain't calling them peers) are themselves engaged in mental rape when they insist on publishing the name and life history of the victims in cases such as this. We don't think the Florida state laws forbidding the publication of names will hold up if ever challenged in court, but then we don't think laws are necessary... common human decency should be enough.

On the brighter side, we note with interest that when someone compiles a list of America's top ten favorite beaches, seven of the ten are in Florida and four of those right here in the Panhandle! However what needs to be addressed is the danger of destroying these beaches as more and more people flock to them, build homes, etc. and they give up their charm to progress.

Sorin Norman Schwarzkopf, who commanded the American force in the Persian Gulf is now back home at his Florida base with his wife and children. The shooting war is officially over but the war against hunger is going full blast as the U.S. hauls tons and tons of food daily to the 700,000 Kurdish refugees who are camped along the Turkish-Iraqi border. This news immediately brings out reports of other people suffering from famine in Africa and other parts of Asia. Something needs to be done to solve the problems long range, and we don't mean just dumping more tons of food out of airplanes.

Record Sale On Saving Bonds In March
Americans purchased $815 million worth of U.S. Savings Bonds during March, setting a 50-year sale record for March in the process. Since the Bond Program began on May 1, 1941, March sales had never exceeded $740 million, the previous record set in March 1978. At the end of March, Americans held $129.7 billion in Savings Bonds, a one-year increase of eight percent from a year ago.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:
I would like to express the sincere disappointment that I felt recently at the poor attendance shown by Elba citizens at a Drug Awareness Program held Tuesday April 16 at the Coffee County Courthouse in Elba. This program was to be conducted by Elba Police Officer, Donnie Byrd, a member of the 12th Judicial Circuit Drug Task Force, and Elba's only Narcotics officer. Only 5 of Elba's citizens were obviously concerned enough about Elba's drug problem to attend the program. Two of those attending were members of the press and one was a town councilman. I must say that we as police officers do appreciate the interest shown by those in attendance in what I've tried so hard to offer. Never in all my 8 years of law enforcement have I ever seen a fellow officer work so hard and go to such effort to help the people in his community. The individual planning, extensive research, personal contacts, and long hours of preparations displayed by Byrd were truly commendable. I, for one, admire his efforts. Organizing and conducting such a program was not an easy task. As far as Elba's drug problem is concerned, I promise you that it does exist and it's definitely a problem. It's on your streets, it's in the school that your children attend, and it's in your homes. The lack of public interest or concern makes the problem an even larger one. The purpose of the Drug Awareness Program was to provide vital information to you as parents and adults concerning drugs so that you may educate your children as well. One Drug Enforcement officer cannot rid Elba of its drug activity. You, as citizens, can help. I've been doubly by simply getting involved. Take time to contact Byrd, ask him questions about illegal drugs, and inquire about a Drug Awareness Program for your family, friends, or neighborhood. The program will be both educational and informative. It's not just a job for Byrd, Donnie Byrd. He really cares!!

I am only one small voice, but I speak out for my family in saying, "We do not want the road to go that close to our father's grave." We are placing metal post with a chain will not over time prevent the bending of the posts or the breaking of the chain.

The church gave me two options, accept the road or move the grave. Why should a grave which is 35 years old have to be moved for convenience sake?

I say fix the problem with the erosion, but stop the road at the corner of the church. We have a door on the front side of the church which allows easy access for our elderly members. I was told that all heavy equipment used for grave preparation would be directed to the back of the church. However, the church does not want traffic to go to the back due to a septic tank and field lines. Where will the heavy equipment go? The only way they will see the road by my father's grave.

I beg the church to reconsider this road. Is the church going to accept responsibility for the cost of having the grave relocated? Does my family have to endure the agony of having my father's grave disturbed? Will the vault crumble? Will my father's casket crumble, thus disturbing his remains?

I ask all of you to pray about this and ask yourself this question: Would I want my father's or mother's grave disturbed after 35 years? I know that an acceptable solution for all parties can be reached that benefit both the church and my family.

A Trip to Jamaica or Just a Good Spring Tonic

by Faye Brown

I believe many of us are similar. Beginning with September we're in constant motion and thought -- planning, psyched for the holidays. Come January -- anticipation of a new year, a new beginning, changes via our resolutions seem to pop up on our minds. But then about late February or early March a lethargy begins to set in, an abnormal laziness or indifference to life that we have trouble putting our finger on. Nowadays folks make expensive visits to specialists, to psychologists, or trips to the beach -- all in an effort to dispel their apathy, their stupor. I wouldn't be surprised if all we really need, as Mama maintained every year when the sap began to rise, is simply a good spring tonic.

Years ago when abody was bilious, puny, or whatever, there were home remedies, or spring tonics, in abundance to get them over the hump, without any sort of an expensive trip. Millions in our neck of the woods made it through on sassafras tea. It could be had by just simply going into the woods and digging roots from the sassafras, a tree of the laurel family. After the roots dried the bark therefrom was boiled and a liberal portion of the liquid was mixed out to all family members. Some folks, however, boiled the entire roots for their medication while still others insisted that roots from the red sassafras was better for you than that from the white tree.

An oddball bunch who once lived across the hollow from us believed in fever grass tea for their yearly peregrination; a weed called fever grass was hunted and boiled for its potential bellyache. I also heard tell of a clan who lived in a neighboring settlement who'd burn a deer's horn into ashes, then mix the powdered horn with honey and give the helpless kids a dose every day if they happened to look a little jaundiced in the springtime. I seriously doubt that that could have been any worse than the "round" of sulphur and molasses my Mama once poured into my defenseless stomach.

I almost lost a friend once; the child's parents made a drink for her out of yellow root (they also kept some around to be chewed in case one had a canker sore in their mouth). And two fellows recently confessed to me that years ago they were helped through their end-of-winter slump with juice from boiled roots of the poke salet plant. (And one said he also was cured of the seven-year-itch by bathing in a tub of juice from the same poke salet roots. Of course, he had to be chased down and caught in the process. The bath liquid "set him of fire and warped him up" (or caused his skin to initially break out in spots and wheal up). And then there were the more modern, up-to-date folks who'd given their last dime during the Great Depression for a bottle of castor oil to administer routinely along about breaking-up time (about the time the land was plowed with the break plow). Un-told numbers swore by Black Draught, (which I feel was appropriately named since nothing could have tasted more like it was straight from the gates of dark Hades). One friend told me that her mother kept a little cup of Black Draught heated on the back of the wood stove at all times; anyone who complained of a stomach ache had to take a sip. It doesn't surprise me that this octogenarian never complains of her many ills even today; the threat of Black Draught would teach even a fool to keep their mouth shut.

It mattered not how good we siblings were feeling come spring long ago, nor how much we pretended to be super when we were actually puny. There'd come a day when Mama'd line us up, one and all, and start making her diagnosis: "None, you're plumb green around the gills. Bill, you look bilious. Frances, you're pale as a sheet and look weak'n'ish young." We'd all break in a run like young yearlings heading for the gate. In an effort to prove her wrong we'd start grabbing grub boxes and axes and head for the newground. After proving our health by making a pile of shrubs as large as a haystack we'd come bolting in to supper, never admitting we were the least bit tucked out. But the work, the show, never helped. Mama'd already have her mind made up. Next trip Daddy made into town Mama'd send to the drugstore for the calomel pills.

Now Webster and I don't often disagree but I'm taking him to task this time. In his dictionary he defines calomel as a white, tasteless powder used as a cathartic. And he takes it further and says it comes from the Greek root meaning "beautiful, black." A misnomer if there has ever been one.

And I'm not the only one who'll stand up and testify of the horribly bitter taste of the calomel used by our parents to "give us a good working out" every spring. Why, just recently I polled fifty senior citizens, each privately, and their very worst childhood recollection was the tiny, pink pills they were required to take yearly; the calomel, if you please.

Actually the pink is a coating around the terrible calomel but seems most kids back then were like me, they had smaller esophaguses than folks today; they just couldn't swallow those little pink pills, but they had to keep trying and trying until long after the pink coating had dissolved and they were tasting the bitter-as-pall calomel. A lady told me of having inadvertently spit her pink pill into the water pail as she tried over and over to swallow it. I did worse than that, perhaps.

Mama had coated my pill with corn bread crumbs to help me coax it down my throat. Long after the cornbread was swallowed the horrible pill remained. Eventually I choked, coughed, and the pill flew out. Mama gave up and I was relieved and happy--until morning.

I was still resting comfortably in my bed when my Daddy arose, made the fire in the stove, put on the coffee and proceeded to rinse his face with water from their soaking cup and place them in his mouth. It was then I, and the entire household, were awakened to his "Hell in the devil have you put in my teeth!" (And those adults who swallowed their little pink pills abruptly had never believed us when we tried to tell them there were bitter as gall. But even they, if any of them were still alive today--they would testify that taking one of those little boogers was tantamount to checking into the hospital and undergoing both an upper and a lower G.I. series.)

I've just finished reading my newspaper. It says that scientific evidence has proven that some folks do get all down and out about February. March every year. It says that it's the absence of lots of sunlight that causes folks to develop abnormalities in their brain chemicals. It causes your work to suffer, to get the blues. In other words, to be listless, bilious, puny.

green around the gills. In Mama's terminology, "to need a good spring tonic".

My Mama may be right. One thing for sure, we didn't spend much on doctor bills back then. Nor on trips to Jamaica. So something our parents did for us must have been right.

But I'm sure not recommending that you rush out and spend a lot of money foolishly, on little pink calomel pills that you can't swallow. Instead, send for one of my new books, Chin-Chin-Bugs, Chin-Chin-Bugs, Chin-Chin-Bugs. Thirty-eight great short stories. Send a total of $8.95 to: Faye Brown, Rt. 2 Box 440 Moundville, AL 35474. I'll be "like a good springs tonic" for you, and a whole lot more pleasant.

NEWS ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY
"People who plan to retire this year may want to call about their plans," Jerry Kizzort, Social Security Manager in Dothan, said. Ms. Kizzort noted that a 1991 change in the Social Security law may limit the start of benefits to the month the person actually retires, making it more important than it used to be to notify Social Security of plans to retire.

Are You Eligible For SSI Benefits?

In some way at some point in life, everybody needs help. For more than four million people, that help comes in the form of monthly Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. If a person has limited income and resources and is age 65 or older, or blind, or has a disability, SSI can help. SSI recipients are usually eligible for Medicaid, in addition to the monthly check, which can help pay health care expenses. On Saturday, March 2nd at six o'clock in the evening, Debra Denise Blair and John Woodson Osburn, Jr. were united in marriage in a traditional double ring ceremony. The candlelight ceremony took place in the sanctuary of Westside Baptist Church in Elba, Alabama with the Reverend David Richburg officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Blair of Elba. The groom is the son of Mr. Ann S. Osburn of Elba and Mr. John W. Osburn, Sr. of Andalusia, AL.

Musical selections included "Can't Help Falling In Love With You"; "Wind Beneath My Wings", which was dedicated to the parents and performed after the mothers were seated. "Friends", which was performed as the bride and groom lit the unity candle; and "Surely The Presence", which was performed following a recitation of "The Lord's Prayer" by the congregation.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown fashioned of white bridal satin. The gown, embellished with French imported Alencon lace and enhanced with seed pearls and iridescent, was designed with long fitted Juliet sleeves and a Sabrina neckline. The formal length straight skirt extended into a chapel length train and was finished at the hemline with a scalloped border of lace. God's Immeasurable Love

A popular monk in the Middle Ages announced that in the cathedral that evening he would preach a sermon on the love of God. The people gathered and stood in silence waiting for the service while the sunlight streamed through the beautiful windows. When the last bit of color had faded from the windows, the old monk went to the candleburn, took a lighted candle and walking to the life-size statue on the cross, held the light beneath the wounds on His feet, and then His hands, then His side. Then, still without a word, he let the light shine on the thorns.

That was his sermon. The people stood in silence and wept, everyone knowing that they were at the center of a mystery beyond their knowing, that they were indeed looking at the love of God - A love so deep, so wide, so eternal that no words could express it and no mind could measure it.

Some people become so involved in trying to understand or explain the love of God, they miss it completely. Instead of trying to comprehend His love, just accept it. God offers you His love free, no strings attached.

AEC Semi-finalists Tour Power Plant

Recently, ten eleventh grade students of Elba High School were awarded a trip to visit AEC's coal-fired Lowman Power plant in Leroy, AL, as part of being selected as one of the ten semi-finalists in the youth tour program. The ten semi-finalists from Elba High School are Tommy Young, Anthony Brashers, Paige Jones, William Smith, Billy Mitchell, Kim Tindol, Lori Marsh, Art Williams, Eric Simmons, and Melissa Maddox.

On March 12 the five finalists from Elba High School competed in the interview competition at AEC headquarters. From this final round of competition, Anthony Brashers was selected as the youth tour delegate winner and Tommy Young was selected as the runner-up from Elba High School. These students will represent AEC at the Alabama Rural Electric Cooperative Association's annual meeting and youth tour program in Montgomery, Alabama, on May 8-9.

Then in June, Brashers will join other winners in the youth tour program from throughout the United States and Japan for a one-week visit to the nation's capital.

Annually, Alabama Electric Cooperative sponsors four high school students in the National Rural Electric Youth Tour Program. AEC's Youth Tour Coordinator, Mark Ingram, says the program, in its 28th year, is designed to educate students about electric power production and to help them become more familiar with our American history and political environment of the nation's capital.

To qualify for the youth tour program students must write a three page essay on rural electrification and answer in a single paragraph the question, "What is the difference between electric cooperative and a private power company?"

The celebration will take place at Weed Baptist Church April 28, from 1:30 until 4:00 p.m.

In lieu of gifts, please drop by with H's and Hugs.

Well, we survived one case of the chicken pox and now have our fingers crossed that two-year-old Melanie doesn't follow her older sister and make life miserable around the Mulaz house for the next week or two. Melissa was a brave patient, and while she did whine a lot, she didn't scratch her sores and really tried to be a good girl. However, Melanie cries a lot anyway, and if she gets chicken pox, it may be unbearable!

ELBA TIGERS CLAIM AREA 2 CHAMPIONSHIP

The Elba Tigers made it a clean sweep of athletic crowns in Class 3A, Area 2 last week when the Tiger baseball team routed Rehobeth 12-3 in a one game playoff to claim the Area baseball crown. The baseballers joined the football and basketball team in posting Area 2 titles, but they had to do it the hard way, as they dropped the opening Area clash to Rehobeth and then had to win five straight Area contests just to force a playoff. The Tigers came back like champions and that is just what they are!

Elba had its back to the wall again last week with games against Laverne and Slocumb, both ignored the pressure and posted two easy wins over the Area 2 opponents to set up Saturday's championship clash against Rehobeth. The Tigers were tied with the Rebels at 2-2 after six innings, but broke loose for 10 runs in the seventh to ice the win and wrap up the championship. It was truly a week for the Tigers to show what they were made of and they came through with flying colors, proving once again that the Elba Tigers are the class of Class 3A!

Chad Dawkins posted a pair of big mound wins last week over Laverne and Slocumb and continued to be a real plus for the Tiger pitching staff, while Hayden Young pitched the big playoff win and again was overpowering. Hayden hadn't pitched much since Dixie Youth, but stepped in this season and was the ace of the staff. The Tigers bled didn't exactly bloom in the win over Laverne, but Shane Blanton, Ronald Thigpen, Shawn Diehl and Marcus Tyson all continued their consistent hitting and paved the way for the wins.

The Tigers have three games scheduled for this week and then open the state tourney on Saturday, so, while the wins and the Area title were great there is still plenty of work left ahead and the Tigers still have plenty of chances to make this season one to remember.

SURPRISES ABOUND IN MEN'S SOFTBALL ACTION

The Men's Softball League opened its season last week after a league tourney and already there have been some surprises. Southern Express upset Carrett Logging for the biggest shock of the young season, while another surprise has been the play of the Red Brahma. The Brahma has been one of the most consistent teams in the league for many years, but this year has found the wins hard to come by and is mired near the bottom of the standings. I'm sure that the Brahma will get back on track and things will settle down soon, but for now, it's wild in the Men's Softball League.

LADY TIGERS BEGINNING TO MAKE NOISE

The Elba Lady Tigers found the going a little too tough early in the season and failed to get in the win column for many weeks, but now the Lady Tigers have gained confidence and claimed six wins in the past three weeks. The Lady Tigers practice as much, if not more, than any team anywhere, and they must not mind, because they just keep improving and the wins are coming. The success should result in a solid girls program in years to come.

WZTZ-FRED'S SPORTEES TOURNEY ONE OF BEST

The 6th annual WZTZ-Fred's Sportees Softball Tournament was held last week at Hawkins-Williams Park and once again it turned out to be one of the finest tournaments in this part of the state. Mike McKee started the tourney several years ago as a fundraiser for his softball team, got WZTZ to help sponsor the event and this year got Fred Smith to join in the fun. The tourney is one of the most well organized events around and I'm glad to be a part of it!

Mike's-Hudson wins tourney

Mike's Gym-Hudson Farm rolled past all challengers without missing a beat last week to claim the championship of the Elba men's Softball League Pre-Season Softball Tournament. Mike's-Hudson posted a perfect 6-0 record to take first place and was followed in order by Carrett Logging (5-1), English Diversified (4-2), Elba Merchants (3-3), Red Brahma (2-4), Southern Express (1-5) and Work Release (0-6).

Following are highlights of the final two night's games:

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW.....

Oddly enough, a big league baseball player once actually caught his own home run!...How's this possible?...It happened to Dixie Walker one day in 1946 at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn...Dixie hit a home run into the screen above the right-field fence. The ball stuck there for a moment. At the end of the inning, Walker went out to play his position in right field, and as he neared the fence, the ball suddenly started to drop out of the screen...Walker ran over, made the catch, and became the only man in history who ever caught his own home run!

Believe or not, a complete 9-inning big league baseball game was played in 51 minutes!...It was a game between the Giants and Phils in 1919.

Has any rookie ever been able to win the batting championship in big league baseball?...It's happened only ONCE in history...The only rookie to lead a major league in batting at the end of any season was Tony Oliva. Who won the American League batting title in 1964.

Elba Tigers win Area 2 title

The Elba Tigers saved the best for last in the Area 2 race last week as they claimed consecutive wins over Laverne 4-2, Slocumb 13-3 and Rehobeth 12-3 to finish the season with a 6-1 Area slate to claim the Class 3A, Area 2 baseball championship and the homefield advantage in this week's state playoffs.

The wins upped the Tigers' record to 13-4 overall, with two regular season games left on the schedule. Following are highlights of last week's big Area 2 wins:

Rehobeth added a run in the bottom of the seventh on a home-run, but it didn't matter as the Tigers claimed the win 12-3.

Some Workers To Pay More In Social Security Taxes

People who make more than $51,300 in 1991 will see an increase in their Social Security taxes, Jerry Kizzort, Social Security manager in Dothan, said recently.

That is because the wage base - the amount of annual earnings subject to the Social Security tax - will increase to $53,400 this year, Ms. Kizzort said.

And, for the first time, the wage base for Medicare hospital insurance will be higher than for Social Security, Ms. Kizzort said. The total 7.65 percent Social Security tax rate is really the combined Social Security and Medicare hospital insurance rate. Of the total 7.65 percent rate, 6.2 percent is for Social Security and 1.45 percent is for Medicare.

Beginning January 1, 1991, the 6.2 percent Social Security tax rate applies to earnings up to $53,400. But the Medicare rate of 1.45 percent applies to earnings up to $125,000. The chart below shows how this works.

1991 Earnings	Employer/Employee Rates (Each)	Self-Employed
Up to $53,400	7.65 percent	15.3 percent
$53,400 to $125,000	1.45 percent	2.9 percent

Self-employed people can take special deductions that help limit their tax liability. Contact the Internal Revenue Service for more information.

In 1991, the amount of annual earnings needed to earn one work credit for Social Security will be $540, up from $520 in 1990. A person who earns $2,160 or more gets four credits, the maximum for a year.

For more information about Social Security, call 1-800-234-5772 (toll-free) between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., or visit the Dothan Social Security office at 204 N. Oates Street between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. on weekdays.
